NSE NSEIT

Data synergy:
is your firm ready for banking transformation?

We are rapidly moving toward a world in which every application is becoming intelligent and capable of real-time model learning. As businesses develop advanced data capabilities, they find themselves having to make decisions as swiftly as human thought.

However, many firms in the banking industry are still struggling with:

Huge silos between databases and analytic products

Complexities of a fragmented data estate

Data warehousing, ML operations and BI all working together

What is needed is a consistent data ecosystem and platform to turn data into a strategic asset for a competitive edge through data-driven digital transformation.

NSEIT can help your organization unlock the value of its data, reduce cost, and boost agility with a unified data platform
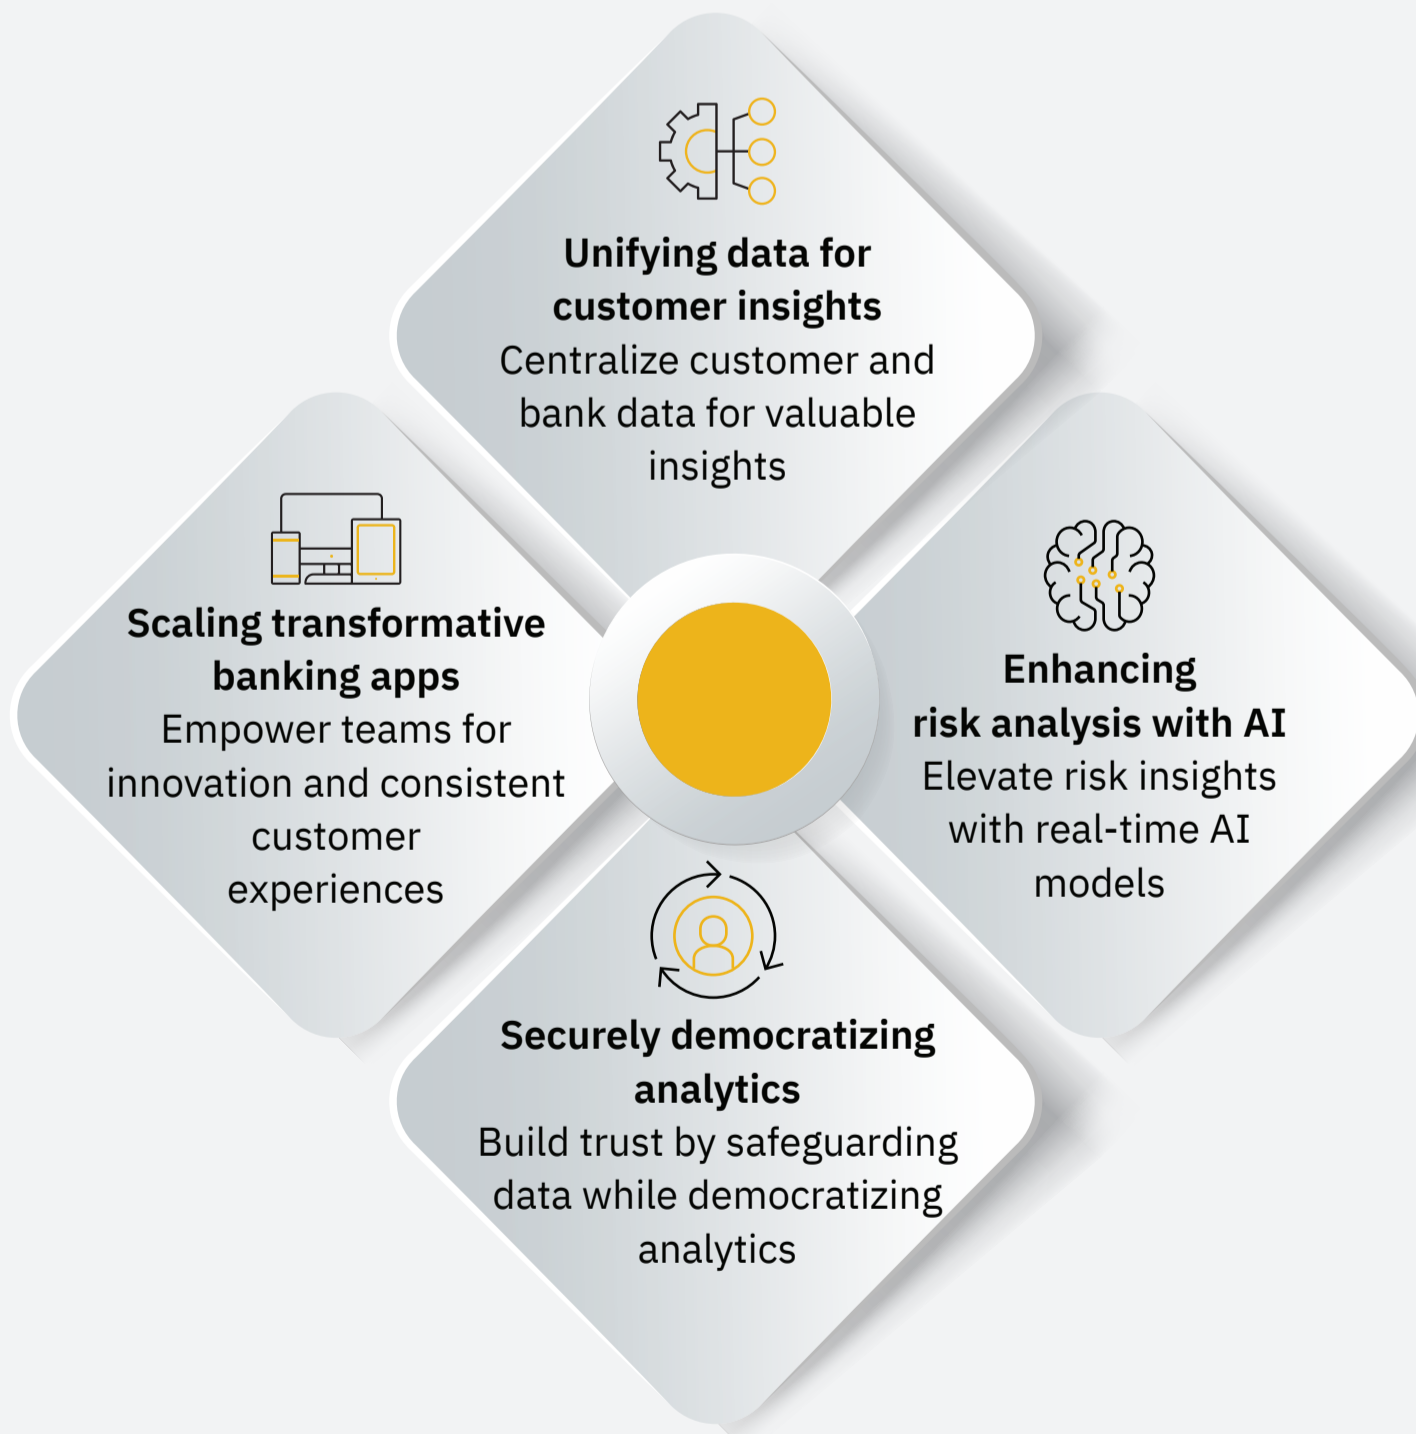

Microsoft data and analytics solutions offer benefits/capabilities such as:

- Data modernization – Establishing a future-proof platform that connects all data
- Cloud-native applications – Supporting high-performance apps of any scale
- Analytics and insights – Understanding client behaviors to generate insights
